

WEBSITE DESIGN FOR A CANADIAN IMMIGRATION FIRM

| ABOUT OUR CLIENT ▶

Our client is a Peterborough, Ontario-based immigration consultancy. The firm has experienced and certified professionals who provide services that help people to immigrate, study, work and invest in Canada.

| PROBLEM FACED BY OUR CLIENT ▶

The client was in the process of incorporating the company when they approached us. The firm needed a professional website for its immigration business.

| OUR OBJECTIVE ▶

Our objective was to design a new website for the client with following features

- ✓ A comprehensive website the coverS all services
- ✓ A great user interface for easy navigation between the pages

STRATEGY USED

The client provided us with the links of a few reference websites. The average number of pages on a typical immigration consultancy is around 150. As the website was comprehensive, we first created the detailed sitemap and then divided the work into two phases in discussion with the client.

In the first phase we built the most important (must-have) pages of the website and kept rest (good to have) for the second phase.

OUR APPROACH

Once the scope of Phase-I was clear, it was important to freeze the design of the website. However, the client did not have the Logo or brand guidelines created. As a first step we decided to help the client with the Logo design so that the brand colours could be frozen.

Since the Phase-I included about 80 pages, the web developer created a detailed schedule for construction.

Once the Logo and the brand guidelines were created, the web developer started work on the Home Page so that the design could be bounced-off the client. Once the Home Page design was frozen, the developer proceeded with the construction of the remaining pages.

After the construction was over, the website underwent peer reviews and testing. Once validated by the client, the website was made live.

STUDY

Canada - A home to World's best schools

Why Canada over other developed countries? Students pursuing education in Canada qualifies for professional pursuits in the Country and abroad. Over 4,50,000 students have chosen Canada as an international education not only because of the top-quality educational standards but because of the relatively lower accommodation costs and tuition fees.

Students and Canada

CANADA STUDY PERMIT

The standard way to study in Canada is with a Canadian study permit.

STUDY WITHOUT A STUDY PERMIT

You can study in Canada without a study permit under exceptional conditions too.

WORK WHILE STUDYING IN CANADA

Canada allows part-time jobs to the students who may need additional finances for a living.

Work After Studying in Canada

The graduates have access to a Post-Graduation Work Permit after pursuing education in Canada. Work permit gives access to students to stay and work for three years, allowing them the Canadian work experience. The work experience due to permit might lead them to permanent immigration.

Options for Studying in Canada

The ways I can study in Canada
The first step is choosing a program to study. Further, there are many ways. One can study here under study permit or without it. Students can also work along with their studies to meet their ends.
I have not found the right school/ I have not been accepted	+
I have been accepted to a Canadian school	+
I am currently studying in Canada and would like to continue my stay here after completing my studies	+
I would like to work while Studying	+

Transitioning to Permanent Resident Status

Canadian provinces want their students to form a broad base of permanent residents through the following programs :

CANADIAN EXPERIENCE CLASS

This program allows the candidates who have studied in Canada with or have work experience to immigrate permanently to Canada.

PROVINCIAL NOMINEE PROGRAM

Specific programs are executed by Canadian provinces to permit the immigration of graduates, permanently.

QUEBEC EXPERIENCE CLASS

The program allows the aspirants with work experience or Quebec students to immigrate permanently to Quebec.

WORK IN CANADA

Work in Canada

Canada's economic success is pretty for business. However, for foreign workers and employers, it is still important to follow through the proper mediums before temporary employment in Canada may. Also, it is not only challenging for people to find jobs here in Canada but also for employers to find suitable workers. With its low unemployment rate and to grow a strong national workforce, Canada rely on foreign intake of talents today.

This section will help you know the most up-to-date information about working in Canada.

In most of the cases, a work permit is required by foreign nationals to work here. However, a foreign worker may work here without the permit under exceptional conditions.

Authorization from Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC), otherwise known as a Labour Market Impact Assessment (LMIA) is needed to employ a foreign worker by the Canadian employers. They need to demonstrate and prove how hiring a foreign worker would not have any negative impact on Canadian Labor and also, that there is no suitable Canadian candidate to fill this job up. The process of approval is subject to a high level of scrutiny from the government. Hence it should be done without errors.

Although the LMIA process is the rule, there are exemptions to it as well. Canadian employers need not have the LMIA authorization if the foreign trade agreements like North American FTA enables foreign workers to work here. There are a number of options here to work here for those who do not have a job offer, such as working holidays, post-graduate work permits, and open spousal work permits.

These are just some of the work scenarios and situations that take place in Canada.

FAMILY SPONSORSHIP VISA OPTIONS

Wish to bring your loved ones to Canada?

The government of Canada provides numerous pathways, which are the generous family reunification programs to bring your loved ones here in Canada under its family class sponsorship class. The lists of such programs include the relationships like spouses and common-law partners, parents and grandparents, and dependent children. The Super Visa Program offers a reunion with parents and grandparents also.

You can explore your family class sponsorship options with our free Canadian Immigration assessment.

Which Family Sponsorship Program is Relevant for You?

I want to bring my Parent or Grandparent to Canada	—
There are many pathways to bring a parent or grandparent to Canada, including Canadian parents and grandparents' sponsorship program. These programs come with an annual cap; therefore, only a certain number of applications are accepted every year. Once this cap is reached, by the super visa program, the entry can be made, which lasts upto 10 years. Provided in both cases, parents or grandparents must meet the eligibility conditions for the sponsorship programs.
